Kimbrough said there are numerous fields in this area where it would be profitable to put in irrigation and that he would be glad to personally aid anyone needing information. Consultants who would be established through James H. and Hubert Kilgo, local SCS men.

MANY "BESTS" AT FLORALA
The word "best" was mentioned frequently at Florala stadium last Friday night during the football game.

The word "best" should have been used at least another time to describe the high class entertainment. It was one of the best jobs of announcing heard at a high school game in a long time and was greatly appreciated by Elba fans.

Among other announcements the man at the mike stated that the Florala Wildcat band and the Elba Tiger band, both of which gave fine exhibitions at halftime, were two of the best in Southeast Alabama. Then he said the Elba Tigers were the best high school team in Southeast Alabama and gave Elba's record to prove it.

Elba's record for the season, which although it does not compare with the Tigers, is nothing to be ashamed of.

Notwithstanding the one-sided score, it was the opinion of the coaches, fans and players that Elba's record was more opposition than any foe so far this year. The Wildcats never quit and the Tigers fought for everything they gained.

The Tigers started off as if they were going to run away with it, scoring seven points early in the first period. Although the Tigers were leading 7-0, the first half was played in Florida territory. The Tigers lacked a scoring punch and led at the half, 7-0.

Following the half, the Tigers again came to life and staged the brand of football that has made them famous throughout South Alabama, showing power, speed and deception that were down the hard-fighting Wildcats.

SHORT STORY

No Fear In Love

By Evelyn Witter

MARCIA CORKEN pushed the wheel chair into the shade of Dave's favorite oak, and confronted him with a defiant air. "I can keep the neighbors' eyes out of our flower bed!" A shadow passed over Dave's brown eyes as he looked up. She knew he was watching her, and she was afraid he couldn't see her now or ever.

But Dave bravely pushed a tone of levity in his voice. "That's the price we have to pay for living in the country," he said. "Putting up with crows. Might as well learn to live with them. Remember you're the one who was set on living at the edge of town."

With a forced smile Marcia tried to resume her fence mending.

Chamber of Commerce Pours Hope Into Elba's Future

Last week as the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors got down to the hard work that is necessary in setting up the organization, predictions were heard that many people would rapidly lose interest in a Chamber and stop giving it financial support if it didn't do something spectacular right away.

Actually, results of a Chamber in Elba have been spectacular already in that everyone has the "hope" that the group can get something rolling for Elba. Three months ago here no one even had hope. The town had only the slightest chance of getting additional payrolls to spark its trade.

Before committees were appointed for various phases of the Chamber's work, three leads for new plants had been or were in process of being investigated. At the first meeting sponsored by the city at the high school cafeteria, the manager of the Dathan Chamber of Commerce told Ozier Roberts, ant, Stokes Haire of a hat plant which could not locate in Dathan because no river was available in which to dump dyes used in manufacturing.

Next day Stokes Haire and Dr. Leslie Johnson checked Elba's water to see if it met certain requirements. When preliminary tests showed that the water probably would be of the right chemical content, a phone call was made to the state planning board. After checking, the state agency called back and said the hat manufacturing firm had decided not to locate in Alabama.

It was a dry run for the new organization and there will probably be hundreds more just like it before anything can be done. But at least Elba has a chance in these working for her future. Six months ago no one would have followed up the lead.

Three other prospects have been turned over to Chamber officers and are being investigated. One of these has purchased some land in Elba. The property might be allowed to stand idle or a small shipping point set up on it, depending on the firm's needs. The company has been contacted and assured the Chamber of Commerce welcomes them to Elba and will do anything in its power to help them have a successful operation here.

Two other leads under investigation

Enterprise Working with Elba for Common Good

During the past month officers of the Chamber of Commerce have had reason to call on civic leaders in Enterprise for help in all cases individuals like N. W. "Jug" Brown, Ben Byrd Henderson, Gerstle Allen and others have gone out of their way to help Elba get to its objective. There has not been the slightest show of jealousy or antagonism, instead it has been friendly cooperation. To these men the idea that Elba and Enterprise should be friendly is just a reality. Working together, they believe Elba and Enterprise can do a lot to advance the common good of Coffee County.

In another instance Flournoy Whitman reported an attitude of "Let's bury the hatchet" when he was in the neighborhood town discussing their airport with them.

Charles Delosch pulled out all the stops last week in his column in The Ledger in praise of the Elba football team. He heaped credit on the local grid eleven after they drubbed Enterprise, 58-0 two weeks ago. To sum up his remarks he wrote that he had never seen the likes of such a squad in all his reportorial work in three Southern states.

Six Constitutional Amendments on Nov. 2 Ballot

Six constitutional amendments, three of local application, will be on the ballot Nov. 2.

No. 1 would authorize Haleyville and Double Springs to help through gifts or loans, in the establishment of new industries in their towns. While this type industrial financing is dubious, the amendment requires the affected voters approve the plan before it becomes effective. A "yes" vote here would merely allow those cities to call an election if they get a chance to finance an industry.

Amendment No. 3 would permit the school districts of Morgan County to vote additional school taxes on themselves and should be passed.

The other local amendment, No. 2, would empower the Legislature to regulate court costs in Madison County. Since local laws are usually approved through courtesy, this gives the representatives of Madison County power to fix court costs. Such amendments are sometimes desirable.

Blind or deaf persons would be exempt from paying poll tax under the provisions of Amendment No. 6. This should be passed since fewer than half the qualified voters now have to pay poll taxes. All war veterans ## payment to the State of Alabama.

This tax payment was in the amount of $17,023.31. The tax goes primarily for educational purposes. This special tax is based on the amount of electric power generated at hydro electric plants during the preceding year.

Elba led 14-0 at the halt and 20-0 at the end of the third quarter. Most of the play up to that point was in Laverne territory. A typical Elba shut out seemed in the making, but in the last minute of play, with the ball deep in their own territory, Elba's center snapped the ball over the would-be punter's head into the end zone. A Laverne player covered for a safety. The ball was brought back to the Elba 35-yard line and Laverne scored without losing the ball. The try for extra point was no good and the game ended 20-0 in Elba's favor.

Coach Pearino Gaitner said he was well-pleased with the B team, especially the backs. He said the linemen also played good ball. Charles Clark performed brilliantly at center, blocking three of four punts. On the third block his arm was either broken or severely strained. Other linemen deserving special mention, said Coach Gaitner, were Marler, Hudson and Davis.

Scoring touchdowns for Elba were Wayne Jacobs, Pete Dorsey and Jimmie Boswell. Rex Marler and Jimmie Harper made extra points.

Farm Owner Comes Up From Tenant Ranks

What is known as the old John Davis farm and said he attributed his success in farming to the fact that he worked hard and watched his money.

Mr. Davis married Effie Johnson in 1920 and they have seven children. He is now 70 years old and is known as the old John Davis Farm.

Mr. Davis bought his farm from the W. H. Johnson estate and later added to it by buying the Mock farm.

Since acquiring the place 20 years ago, Mrs. Davis has added a new barn in 1930 and built a house in 1936. Inside the house has been recently redecorated and the place is now a beautiful home.

The Fairview community farm started on a smaller place, Gray Howell now owns part of Mr. Davis' original place, and progressed to larger farms until now he controls about 400 acres of land.

William Alcus, son of Mr. Davis, came to The Elba Clipper to pick up the free aerial photo of the 400-acre farm.

understand why the Advertiser sees fit to ignore Elba's outstanding football team.

Cosch Pearson, editor of the Monday morning that he took the trouble to phone in the result of the Elba's football game played last Friday night, immediately after the game. Elba Advertiser readers were disappointed and mystified Saturday morning when not a word about the game was to be found, although most of the other games throughout this section were more or less covered.

At Elba's undefeated and unscored on Tigers defeated Harford 49-0. It seems that it was not of sufficient importance to receive any mention at all. Advertiser readers are asking
"What does it take?"

The only reason many people hereabouts can think of why the Advertiser is showing such prejudice against the Elba football team is because of that paper's omission of a mention of the game against a native son, "Big Jim" Folsom. Perhaps the Advertiser reasons that "no good can come out of Elba."

It has been suggested that perhaps the Advertiser is biding its time, hoping for a "man dog" news will be forthcoming when Elba would be scored upon or even better still, lose a game.
That would be real news and likely would receive Advertiser score headlines.

(Editor's Note:—Two pictures have also been sent to the Advertiser, but not printed so far.
One was a photo of the entire squad and their record to that time. The other was a picture of Thomas Prescott, who would be a credit to any all-star grid-line up.)

CEMETERY WORKING
There will be a cemetery working at Pleasant Ridge on Friday morning, Oct. 22, J. C.
Goodson announces.

BY C. B. McDOWELL
The thus-far invincible Elba Tigers added another victory to their string Friday night by soundly trouncing a big, hard-fighting Harford Bulldog team at Elba stadium, 49-0. It was the sixth successive game in which the Tigers' goal line has not been crossed or seriously threatened.

Despite the one-sided score, Harford furnished more opposition than is indicated by the heavy Harford line which outweighed the Tiger forward wall charged doggedly and made enough yardage to gain nine first downs to eight for the Tigers. It was the most gained against the Tigers this year.

First downs did not tell a true story of the comparative strength of the teams. Additional yardage was gained by the Tigers' first eight plays and seven were yardage gained good for touchdowns which are much more important.

The line play of the Tigers was powerful and effective on offense and defense and was an important factor in making it possible for Elba's "Touchdown Twins," Marlin Dyess and Mack Twins, to run wild and put on one of the most spectacular exhi-

Nov. 2 Is Election Day

Hereafter in off year elections, there has been little incentive for voters in Coffee County to go to the polls in general elections, as the spring primaries settled the matter of electing local and state officials.

Since the Civil War, Sen. Lister
Hill, Gov. N. J. Holt and other Democratic office holders called for their party to carry the landslide of votes when they delivered a political rally in Doth-

played last Friday night, immediately after the game. Elba Advertiser readers were disappointed and mystified Satur-
about the game was to be
found, although most of the other
games throughout this section
were more or less covered.

At Elba's undefeated and un-
scored on Tigers defeated Harford 49-0. It seems that it was
not of sufficient importance to receive any mention at all. Advertiser readers are asking
"What does it take?"

The only reason many people
the Advertiser is showing such
prejudice against the Elba football team is because of that pa-
the game against a native son, "Big Jim" Folsom. Perhaps the Advertiser reasons that "no good
can come out of Elba."

It has been suggested that
perhaps the Advertiser is biding
dog" news will be forthcoming
when Elba would be scored upon
or even better still, lose a game.
That would be real news and
likely would receive Advertiser
score headlines.

(Editor's Note:—Two pictures
have also been sent to the Advertiser, but not printed so far.
One was a photo of the entire
squad and their record to that time. The other was a picture of Thomas Prescott, who would
be a credit to any all-star grid-
line up.)

RETURN TO HOSPITAL
Mr. & Mrs. J. W. Kendrick reported Tuesday that their son, John, who is employed in the dispatcher's office of the Coast Line Railway in the city of Elba, has returned to the hospital in Waycross, Ga. The doctors there have ordered him to remain in the hospital for three weeks. High blood pressure is his trouble.

CEMETERY WORKING
There will be a cemetery
working at Pleasant Ridge on Friday morning, Oct. 22, J. C.
Goodson announces.

The thus-far invincible Elba Tigers added another victory to
their string Friday night by
soundly trouncing a big, hard-
fighting Harford Bulldog team
at Elba stadium, 49-0. It was
the sixth successive game in which the Tigers' goal line has
threatened.

Despite the one-sided score,
Harford furnished more opposition than is indicated by the
heavy Harford line which out-
first downs to eight for the Tigers. It was the most gained
against the Tigers this year.

First downs did not tell a true story of the comparative
strength of the teams. Additional yardage was gained by
much more important.

powerful and effective on offense and defense and was an important factor in making it possible for Elba's "Touchdown Twins," Marlin Dyess and Mack Twins, to run wild and put on
one of the most spectacular exhi-

Nov. 2 Is Election Day

Hereafter in off year elections, there has been little incentive for voters in Coffee
County to go to the polls in general elections, as the spring pri-
electing local and state officials.

Hill, Gov. N. J. Holt and other
for their party to carry the
landslide of votes when they delivered a political rally in Dothan several weeks ago.

Not another operation in Coffee County can approach that of Harford English Game Farm appeared in last week's Elba Clipper as the Mystery Farm. For
